

Evaluating the Credibility of Publishers & Authors

- www.google.com
Good reference for finding author information. Try searching by the full name of author.
- www.lights.ca/publisher/index.html
Search for publishers by location (city, state or country), topic (medicine, travel, poetry, science fiction & fantasy) or type of material (books, magazines, ebooks...)
- www.ulrichsweb.com/UlrichsWeb
Provides publisher information for 1000s of periodicals, including how often it's published, who its readers are, what subject(s) it covers, whether it's refereed, and so on. Look at the "basic description" and "reviews" tabs.

Ulrich's International Periodicals Directory identifies thousands of international periodicals (magazines, journals, newspapers, newsletters, trade journals, etc.) and includes information about the publisher, publishing schedule, readership, subject(s) covered, whether it is refereed, and any special features, e.g. advertising, bibliographies, charts, illustrations, statistics, or book reviews.

Ulrich's also includes reviews from other publications (notably Magazines for Libraries) that provide more information about target audience(s) and what type of libraries might benefit most by including it in their collections.

Magazines for Libraries
 (Mar 15, 2000; ISSN: 0002-9602)
 Published by the University of Chicago since 1895, this journal is one of the major research sources in the field of sociology. Research methodology used for subjects is well documented and comprehensive discussion tends to be more complete than in other journals of this type. Topics cover historical as well as current events international subjects are explored. There is an extensive book review section. Strongly recommended for academic libraries with a curriculum in sociology and for larger public libraries. Sherry DeDecker
